

Stakeholder Engagement Workshop on Roadmaps for Disaster Resilience and Climate Change Adaptation

30 – 31 August 2018

Courtyard by Marriot - Siem Reap Resort, Siem Reap, Cambodia

The ASEAN Socio-Cultural Community (ASCC) Blueprint clearly recognize the need for concerted efforts to address the issue of climate change induced disasters and their impacts on socio-economic development, health and the environment, through implementation of 11 actions, based on the principles of equity, flexibility, effectiveness, common but differentiated responsibilities and respective capabilities. Ensuring adequate access to food at all times for all ASEAN peoples is also identified as priority agenda for ASCC Blueprint implementation. Climate change and increasing number of natural disasters is affecting the regional and local food security.

One aspect of climate change and disasters that has been studied with in detail in Cambodia, Lao PDR, Myanmar and Vietnam (CLMV) is that related to agricultural production systems and their economic and social impacts. This is due, perhaps, to the intrinsic complexity that characterizes long term economic predications as well as assumptions on food security; or may be to the wide variety of structural and non-structural measures evolved for adapting to climate change and climate induced disasters like flooding, drought etc.

Government must design measures specific to the crop, livestock, fisheries and forest subsectors, and be enabled to adopt more systematic strategies that counteract the impacts of disasters on sector growth and development that's national and regional food security. Adaptation Road Maps concerning the distributional impacts of disasters and climate change have been developed by government officials in these four countries, as a step towards strengthening preparedness and developing regional resilience against potential threats to food security.

This two-day interactive workshop is set to achieve the following objectives, namely: (i) to inform the stakeholders about the proposed focus areas for disaster resilience and climate change adaptation in the CLMV sub-region, (ii) to solicit inputs from international experts on the proposed key action plans, (iii) to allow other countries to share their current programs and future priorities in each selected areas, and (iv) to engage stakeholders of the targeted countries on guiding them on implementation challenges.
